Big Nazi Fleet Reported Routed

Rommel's Flank Driven Back Towards Sea In Egypt

FURIOUS BATTLES RAGING

Nazis Advance On 2 Russ Fronts

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO, July 10.—(AP)—British forces in North Africa southwest of El Alamein squared Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored right flank back toward the sea today, while United States bombers and British submarines sought to cut his Mediterranean supply line.

(A BBC broadcast quoted reports from Ankara that the Axis was to withdraw from North Africa from the Balkans, pulling German troops from Yugoslavia and even Crete in an effort to restore Britain's striking power.)

British headquarters announced long-range United States bombers had bombed the Mediterranean shot down two German fighter planes which attempted to intercept them.

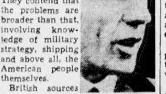

An Admiralty communiqué said London credited a single British submarine with sinking one merchant ship and a strongly-armed Axis anti-sub boat, and was sending a naval auxiliary vessel to the bottom.

The change in Rommel's line eliminated a sharp angle where the German front turned back to the west. Now the line forms an arc leading from the coast of El Alamein into the desert 30 miles south of El Daba.

The British maneuver apparently was a continuation of the salvoes which hard-hitting armored patrols have been carrying out daily to the west, to the north, and thereby postpone a showdown in the battle for Egypt.

Anti-aircraft and field gun batteries and the tanks of the Axis leader's tenacious lines of communication and were created by destroying 100 German transports vehicles in one assault.

Yugoslavian King Reaches Ottawa

OTTAWA, July 10.—(CP)—King Peter of Yugoslavia arrived here today from the U.S. for a two-day visit. He was accompanied by his son, the Earl of Athlone, Prime Minister Mischa King and members of the dominion cabinet.

Along the same line, it was decided to press for the organization of strong local executives.

Delegates from all parts of the dominion were called to the executive to decide the date when their conference would be held. While no date was set, it is expected it will be either October or November.

He was taken up in the exchange of views regarding the delegations regarding conditions in various parts of the province.

CARHART ADVISES

The minister of the colonies has been confirmed almost entirely to countering threats to Canada's security. The new chief of staff has been relieved since British forces beat off an assault on their positions near El Alamein, some 80 miles west of Alexandria.

LOCAL ENGAGEMENT

R.A.F. and United States heavy bombers ranged over the Mediterranean in search of Axis shipping. British and American heavy bombers destroyed enemy fighters which attempted to intercept them. British headquarters said.

Rommel's latest withdrawal said.

"In the southern sector our mobile columns engaged enemy forces, including tanks and forced march northward."

The communiqué did not specify the number of the forces involved, but apparently the engagement was purely local in character.

Elsewhere in the front, the British said, there was merely "normal artillery and patrol activity" yesterday.

More details indicated Rommel's movements have been confined almost entirely to countering threats to Canada's security. The new chief of staff has been relieved since British forces beat off an assault on their positions near El Alamein, some 80 miles west of Alexandria.

PROBLEMS MOVES

While there was no expectation here that Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's harassing tactics might provoke a general withdrawal, British headquarters seemed satisfied they are keeping the pressure on Rommel so that he can not repeat his forces for a new offensive.

Observers believed that Rommel would like to avoid a general engagement for two or three weeks in order to rebuild his strength.

Military circles declared it is a question of time until either Rommel or Gen. Auchinleck feel compelled to make a move, and reinforced to strike a blow on a scale to force the issue.

The great battle of the Don, now at its height, probably is the supreme test of the Nazi's ability to get anywhere in Russia this summer. Hitler has thrown a tremendous weight of men and equipment into a relatively narrow sector of about 110 miles. Into that area he has concentrated about 1,000,000 men and at least 2,000 tanks. Tanks came more frequently, as Romanians fighting for Hitler have destroyed 250 tanks in a single day are reported.

Despite this massive effort, the Germans have resorted to a last-ditch effort to cover foreign shores.

LONDON, July 10.—(AP)—United States lend-lease agreements signed in the last two weeks have eased the financial burdens of the London governments of Nazi-controlled nations, only three of which are entirely self-supporting.

The agreements will help equip Norway, Belgium, the Netherlands and Greece fighting on the side of the Allies.

The Norwegians and Belgians, however, still had London headquarters said last night it had not been signed.

REPORT OF THE WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

Mr. Spenny stated that last year the states of Canada raised the "unbelievable sum" of $16,000,000,000 through the two Victory Loans and another $16,000,000,000 through the war loan.

This year, he said, the nation is faced with a total requirement of $30,000,000,000.

TAXES

"Taxes are 'jacked up' to the extent of $70,000,000, the refundable tax to bring in another $85,000,000, $100,000,000 through the two Victory Loans and another $16,000,000,000 through the war loan," he said.

The Norwegians and the Netherlands have large revenues from shipping and the Netherlands, which has no naval forces, has collected the National War Finance Committee to find by way of taxation the $175,000,000,000, Mr. Spenny declared.

"We have got to look at the national income to realize that this is the only way in the realm of reasonable possibility," he reminded the listeners.

In 1938, the national income was $10,000,000,000, and the tax rate employed at government headquarters principally to keep after extra shipping interest.

And so it will be in the tiny Luxembourg representation in London, and the exiled government, which has no naval forces, has made the Belgian Congo, All three have large funds in the United Kingdom.

LARGE NAZI STAFF

The Norwegians employ the largest administrative force of any government in London, Mr. Spenny said, and numbered in 1,000 men employed at government headquarters, principally to keep after extra shipping interest.

And so it will be in the tiny Luxembourg representation in London, and the exiled government, which has no naval forces, has made the Belgian Congo, All three have large funds in the United Kingdom.

SYDNEY, July 10.—(CP)—Australia's net war expenditure for 1941-42 was approximately $131,631,000 ($11,124,000 T.D.P.), compared with $108,657,000, treasured J. B. Cliffe said today.

The expenditure for the coming fiscal year is expected to exceed $140,000,000.

Of the 1941-42 net expenditure $108,657,000 was met from current revenue and $101,500,000 from war loans.

Last November's budget contained plans meeting only $80,000,000 of war loans and current revenue, but $108,515,000 was found through this method as a result of increased taxes, the minister said.

He was succeeded by General Col.-Gen. Werner von Fritsch, who was killed in Poland in September.

It was reported that Fritsch was murdered by the German Gestapo or by the SS.

Now he is succeeded by Field Marshal Walther von Reichenau, commanding on the western front.

He was assigned to the command of the central front in mid-December, succeeded by General Erich Hoepner.

Hoepner proposed both a Hitler proposal for an attack on Britain and the Hitler proposal for an active defense.

WITHDRAWALS

Mr. Percy Page, M.L.A., Independent, Edmonton, who opened the meeting, and pleaded until a presidential was elected, has now withdrawn his position of protest but withdrew his name. Mr. Page explained that in view of the fact that he was unable to get a hearing before the provincial association he did not think he should head the Edmonton delegation.

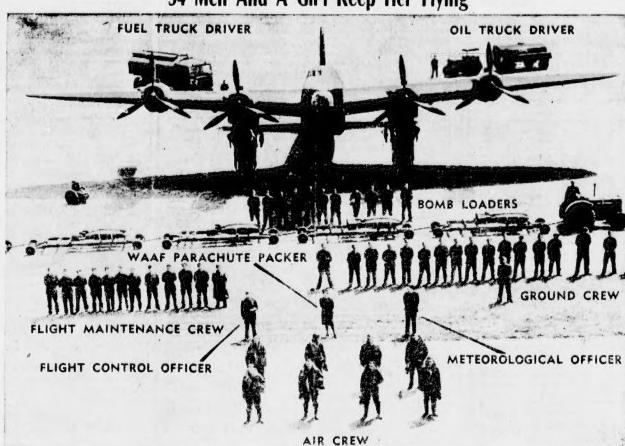

Nomination of Mr. Kiley Porter was moved by Mr. Alister, Independent, Prince Albert, Mr. independent, Brett-Cochrane, and Alfred Speakman, M.L.A., Independent, Red Deer, seconded.

Addressing the meeting briefly, Mr. Lauri said: "It is through the work of such groups as the that we have obtained the best government in this province—a government which has not made any extra demands. I am moving throughout this country at the present time, getting a better government and getting rid of the one we have."

Mr. Speakman said: "The Social opinion is strong against party politics, waste and extravagance."

Referring to the choice of an independent candidate, he declared: "If you choose a really worth-while man, he will help the organization to work with the candidate. I am looking forward to the day when the legislature to having our ranks filled."

Referring to the nomination of an independent candidate, Mr. Page stated: "Morally, the seat belongs to an independent. But in a democracy every party has a right to contest the seat and we are not suggesting that they should not have this right. People in other parts of this province will expect us to nominate a candidate."

MATTER FOR ELECTORS

With reference to the nomination by the C.C.F. last Tuesday night, Mr. Lauri said: "The Royal Canadian Air Force touched on the wisdom of the C.C.F. naming a candidate, whether it is independent or not. This is a matter for the electors to decide."

Continuing he declared: "We had better refer this to a committee of both hands. We should not under-estimate our opposition. Don't make any mistake about it—they're going to put up a real battle."

"In my opinion, the Social Credit Party might not have named a candidate in opposition to ours. But since there will definitely be two to contend the election, the C.C.F. and the independent, I think the Social Credit Party will also nominate a candidate. And there is no reason why not."

Mr. Page did not explain who a fourth candidate might represent.

Dealing with the method of nominating the independent candidate, Mr. Lauri said: "The convention should be open to all supporters of the independent party."

It was pointed out however, that a concerned drive should be wide open. Any person nominated should be spoken to in advance and should give his consent in writing.

The meeting decided that the pledge to remain on independent should also be required to give a pledge to remain on independent.

Explaining his reference to nominating by membership, Mr. Page said it was his suggestion that only members of the independent party should be permitted to vote at the convention.

OPEN TO SUPPORTERS

The general opinion at the meeting however, was that voting should not be restricted to paid-up members, and that the convention should be open to all supporters of the independent party.

It was pointed out however, that a concerned drive should be made to obtain membership for the party.

The Safety Sticker

More than seven thousand cars and trucks have been examined and declared to be in proper condition for driving, in the campaign to eliminate defective vehicles from the streets of Edmonton. The police are taking steps to see that owners who have neglected the matter neglect it no longer.

It is surely a minimum requirement that anything so potentially dangerous as a motor car, a truck should be equipped with brakes which work, lights which function properly, and should conform in other respects to the regulations which long experience has shown to be necessary if the streets are to be reasonably safe.

No one can question that proposition. The trouble is that not every driver acts accordingly without strong persuasion, and sometimes more persuasion, on the part of the police. Where so many have conformed to the safety practice, that they have their cars inspected and approved, the car which does not carry a safety sticker is made conspicuous. It suggests that the owner is lacking in prudence or in public spirit.

More Tightening Up

The oil controller has had to tighten up again. With the result that there will be no oil to sprinkle on dusty streets, no asphalt for paving roads, and only half the usual amount of oil going into roofing materials and linoleum.

The timber and lumber regulations have also been tightened. British Columbia mill-owners have been told that three-quarters of their output will be needed for war purposes for an indefinite time.

These restrictions will curtail building operations, and cancel road and rail improvement programs. Householders will have to get along with the old floor coverings, and postpone fixing the roof if asphalt or oil is involved.

There are now severe curbs on passenger, on construction work, and on home improvements. They will be felt particularly in centres where housing is scarce, as it is in Edmonton and most other centres of medium and larger size. They will be affected more where prices have been watched as to its effect on western interests. A. E. Johnston, late forest ranger, has gone into business as a land guide.

ject the opinion of the military experts if and when they say drafters are needed abroad. He says so in advance, without naming or caring, the circumstances under which the military men may make this recommendation.

At the trial of Mr. René Chaloult, at Montreal, the accused member of the Quebec legislature said his purpose in making his speech was to "warn the government that the riots which took place in 1917 when conscription was passed would be repeated on a possibly larger scale."

What he has not been repeated and there are no signs that they will be, despite the inflammatory appeals of Messrs. Chaloult, Cardin et al. For the reason, it may be supposed, that the plumbish which was passed in 1917 was held in 1912 before any steps were taken to amend the Mobilization Act.

There are grounds to suspect that these extremists, who may hope to repeat their performance of 1917, will be judged by the same court of the Quebec legislature as are prepared to go. The rank and file in that province have never revolted against the expressed will of the majority of the Canadian electors. That they are minded to do so now is doubtful.

Gandhi now says he would "allow" United Nations forces to stay in India and defend the country. As the forces were not invited, he says, India has no way to put them out, the concession is not material. Still, it shows a measure of advance toward realities from the former Gandhi notion that the way to resist Japanese invaders was to refuse to give them a drink of water.

During June the cost of living index rose a point, the first time it has advanced since the fall of 1940. The figure is said to be due to having higher prices for beef. Steaks have been taken to reduce this, and officials are confident the index will move downward next month. It is costing a lot of money in subsidies, and bonuses to make price-control work, but it does seem to be working.

Looking Backward

From The Bulletin Files

1912—50 Years Ago

Reports from Calgary are that there are 13 cases of smallpox in that town and that two deaths have occurred.

Alberta papers have been amalgamated under the name of the Saskatchewan Times, which will be published by J. D. MacLean.

George Wooley, ex-policeman, has rejoined G. division as blacksmith.

On the heels of the action of the people of Edmonton will affect many other places in the near future, and should also be a lesson to those who are still in doubt about the application of the railway charter when applications for railway charters come before them. Let the world know what we expect, because they are impressed by conditions against which protest would avail nothing.

If there is yet any "rugged individualist" who has not recognized that in our present day life people live, move and have their being in a community, let him, at this time, let the light dawn upon him.

The mid-intercourse does not stop at national boundaries. The asphalt which Canadians cannot get any more comes largely from Trinidad, and the oil which we buy comes largely from the United States and Peru.

Egypt's Idle Army

Egypt has been invaded, but so far as the despatches have shown the Egyptian army has not been doing any fighting. On the other hand, the Egyptian premier has publicly declared that he will not fail to people who inform the authorities if and when Axis paratroopers are landed in the country.

The paradox of the Egyptian Government's decision to Britain to defend Egypt is paralleled by this distinction between Axis forces who come by tank or truck and Axis forces who arrive by air. The one type, it seems, are not to be resisted, but the others are to be roundly up.

There is some sort of an agreement between Britain and Egypt which makes it the duty of British forces to defend that country while a trained army of 150,000 men stands idle and Egypt maintains official relations with the Axis powers.

This arrangement is based on the obvious fact that Britain must defend the Suez canal, whether or not Egypt chooses to help defend it, and the extent of its help itself. It is on the part of Egypt a cold-blooded business deal, the loss creditable since Egypt only enjoys self-government because British soldiers did not stand forty years ago to defend it free.

In the present circumstances this lopsided arrangement has not even the poor merit of being sensible. Do the Egyptians or their Government imagine that if Hitler should defeat the British army and capture Egypt, he would then withdraw his forces from the valley of the Nile and restore their independence? They should take a look at Poland and the other dozen countries which he is avowedly wading into a greater Reich.

1942 Isn't 1917

Hon. P. J. A. Cardin says his attitude is not changed "one iota" by the announcement that parliament will have a chance to vote no-confidence in the Government before any drafted men are actually sent overseas. This he thinks will take some time, and the specific reasons for sending men abroad not made public.

Having repudiated the principle of majority-rule, the ex-Minister now proposes to pose as a super-strategist and recall the opinion of the military experts if and when they say drafters are needed abroad. He says so in advance, without naming or caring, the circumstances under which the military men may make this recommendation.

At the trial of Mr. René Chaloult, at Montreal, the accused member of the Quebec legislature said his purpose in making his speech was to "warn the government that the riots which took place in 1917 when conscription was passed would be repeated on a possibly larger scale."

Nazis Feel Conquest Of U.S. Must Be Inside Job

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

This column has maintained for a long time that the attempt to deal with Nazi activities in this country chiefly by a close watch on enemy aliens would miss the mark and that one must look for Nazis among German and other citizens.

Now among the Nazi agents and saboteurs in America, some of German origin, we learn, are United States citizens.

Ernest Peter Burdett and Herbert Dorothy Thompson, second generation citizens, whose father was naturalized. There has been into this country since the days before Hitler came to power, Hitler and thereafter pursued their activities under his best political friends.

From the beginning, Hitler has maintained that the paralyzing of the United States must be done by infiltration into the armed forces, sabotage of ships and dissemination of social unrest.

For that purpose the German-American Bund was organized; contacts were established with various groups of German-Americans, and amounts of literature were put out through native fascist papers, with radars and anti-British Irish groups even. Thespohists and astrologers have been used.

Continued contacts were maintained, but our entrance into the war, between these groups and Germany, through certain agents, diplomatic legations in South America, and even cables and mails.

Doubtless German short-wave stations, some of them transmitted code information to certain key persons, and may still be doing so.

That they have gotten into eight met and some of them are cables and mails.

With the declaration of war, communication became increasingly difficult. But the sparse information available to us in the United States from subversives indicates that they came, not only as agents, but as saboteurs and instructors of the already organized fifth column.

One of the proofs is the program they brought with them, that is too much for eight men. It is a large and well organized ring.

A saboteur, with his best political friends. But some contacts were made with us.

From the beginning, Hitler has maintained that the submarine arrivals were under orders to pull together the organization to re-inforce it, and give it direction.

Free Speech

This organization flourished under preexisting international agreements of right of free speech.

It will remain one of the fantastic ironies of history that it actually succeeded in carrying out its nefarious activities with the protection of the American police, the American military, the American troops, protected by us now, our factories and our armed forces, and under Nazi orders, just as I am telling you.

The capture of these men cannot be seen as an isolated incident. It is extremely familiar picture. The FBI should be congratulated that they have gotten into eight

Free Speech

This organization flourished under preexisting international agreements of right of free speech.

It will remain one of the fantastic ironies of history that it actually succeeded in carrying out its nefarious activities with the protection of the American police, the American military, the American troops, protected by us now, our factories and our armed forces, and under Nazi orders, just as I am telling you.

The capture of these men cannot be seen as an isolated incident.

It is extremely familiar picture. The FBI should be congratulated that they have gotten into eight

met and some of them are cables and mails.

Doubtless German short-wave stations, some of them transmitted code information to certain key persons, and may still be doing so.

With the declaration of war, communication became increasingly difficult. But the sparse information available to us in the United States from subversives indicates that they came, not only as agents, but as saboteurs and instructors of the already organized fifth column.

One of the proofs is the program they brought with them, that is too much for eight men. It is a large and well organized ring.

A saboteur, with his best political friends. But some contacts were made with us.

From the beginning, Hitler has maintained that the submarine arrivals were under orders to pull together the organization to re-inforce it, and give it direction.

Judgment In Chaloult Case Set For Aug. 3

MONTREAL, July 10.—(CP)—Judgments in the case of René Chaloult, Liberal member of the Quebec legislature for L'Assomption, were handed down today. Both Edouard Archambault ruled yesterday after spending the fourth day of the trial listening to argument of the counsel.

The complaint laid under the Defence of Canada Regulations after a public hearing at the court of assizes May 19, charges Mr. Chaloult with making declarations and affirmations which would cause disaffection which would cause disaffection to the King; prejudice the success of the Allies; damage the forces of the Allied Nations and their associates; preclude recruiting and training and discipline of His Majesty's forces; injure the security of the state and the successful prosecution of the war.

ACQUITTED ASKED

Chaloult, who was granted a general pardon, was heard last in a one-hour address, after defense counsel Fernand Chaloult and Pierre Laporte asked for acquittal of the accused lawyer.

Mr. Laporte reviewed the testimony offered by Montreal newspapermen, with a remark that reports in the Gazette and Le Droit entitled him to believe that there might be different minds. He wondered if spectators at the May 19 meeting had been asked to "convey a message" of ideas drawn from Mr. Chaloult's speech.

He also wondered what would happen if one were to repeat several times in public places, "with fire," as a Devise reported, the statements Mr. Chaloult made in his speech, the utterances made by accused.

He said that Mr. Chaloult, when cross-examined, answered evasively, but that the answers showed the thoughts and beliefs which had animated his address.

With regard to the privilege to oppose certain laws before they were adopted, Mr. Chaloult said that this right must not be considered as a measure pealing other laws that had been passed and were to be respected.

CITIZEN ADVICE

At the end of yesterday's session, before argument of the defense counsel, Mr. Monette brought Judge Archambault's attention to a section of the Criminal Code reading "decrees was an Imperial one, in which Canada is not interested."

Mr. Monette said that the article was "false, superlatively false," adding that it was contrary to Mr. Churchill's telegram to Washington, which "certainly" was written with malicious intent." He said, however, that Mr. Chaloult's statement was accurate, reported in the story under the headline.

The Gazette, in its Friday issue, says that the article was "merely an inadvertent error in the heading which appeared over the report of the House of Commons on July 1st's debate." The lower portion of the headline was incorrect, "but the examination was that all the rights of war developments which had been quoted were not true, inasmuch as regard to this was an imperialist war. What Mr. Chaloult said earlier in his speech was that Canada's opposition to Canada's participation in the war was based on his belief that the war was imperialist."

CATION MISTAKE

He defined an imperialist war as one which did not interest Canada. It was, he said, a "very terrible moment that the headlines writer carelessly based her caption. There was a definite speech."

FRIENDS OF SPEECH

Mr. Chaloult's first defense counsel to speak said the case was bigger than René Chaloult for the province of Quebec and for French Canadians is on trial."

He said that newspaper reports of Mr. Chaloult's speech were incomplete and submitted they did not establish that article 30 of the Canadian Criminal Code had been violated.

Mr. Chaloult said that the Canadian government was "no longer a colony" and that the members of Westminster paraded to claim that the heading writer had claimed his constitutional rights."

Increased Sales Of War Stamps Urged

SASKATOON, July 10.—(CP)—Sales of new savings certificates and stamps must increase said G. W. Spiney of Ottawa yesterday, stressing in an interview that $175,000,000 more will be required by the federal government this year and only one-tenth of this amount will come from forced savings and returnable taxes."

Mr. Spiney, who is chairman of the National War Finance Committee, met with the Canadian government yesterday night. He met in conference yesterday about 50 unit chairmen in northern Saskatchewan and outlined plans for increasing the sale of certificates.

The chairman will also discuss the stamp campaign scheduled for this fall, some time before December. Mr. Spiney said, size of the issue next year will probably be greater than the two preceding.

To facilitate this phase of war finance sales of stamps and certificates must be increased, he said.

SOME CONSIDERATION

NEW BARNETT, Eng.—(CP)—After having 10 wolfish stolen, A. Tibbles received a postcard from the U.S. asking him the right to feed the poor we give you a few to breed some more."

Bomb Explodes After Lying Buried 13 Months

Rescue squads clean up the debris left by an explosion in Gurney Street near the Elephant and Castle district of South London. The explosion was caused by a German bomb which buried itself under a house during a Nazi blitz 13 months ago. There were many casualties, some fatal.

NO COMPULSION

War Risk Insurance To Be Available 30 Days After Bill Is Passed

OTTAWA, July 10.—(CP)—Within 30 days after passage of a bill now before the House of Commons it should be possible to issue policies under the government war risk insurance scheme, Finance Minister Ilsey told the house yesterday.

Until the bill is passed there is no authority to accept any obligation under the law to protect those who have lost their lives in the war, but the minister said he had gone on with the organization of the scheme.

Under the bill there is no power to impose a compulsory insurance scheme which would enable the government to levy against all persons who have been killed in the war, but the minister said he had gone on with the organization of the scheme.

Mr. Ilsey said that there would be no territorial discrimination in the bill. It would apply to all persons who would obtain a policy from their point of view and could points with high risk would not be penalized.

Power given the government to refuse policies would not be exercised simply because a certain area was subject to attack. The house was told that the war risk insurance bill would be introduced in committee.

NEXT Democracy Leader Blackmore said the war risk insurance bill would not be discriminatory. It would bring many inequalities and injustices to the market, he said, so he recommended an amendment to make the maximum amount payable $250.

Mr. Ilsey said the limitation was not necessary to end life to continue, and because there was difficulty in determining whether a person was accurate.

If persons "of a certain class" were to be insured he said he would be compelled to pay $250 for damage to a home and this gave the person a home of his own, a full protection.

The bill provided that no payment would be made if the damage were less than $250, and which was injustice to a person with a home worth only $50 and which suffered damage of $45.

Luxury Goods Compensation Limit Is $250

OTTAWA, July 10.—(CP)—Senate committee on finance has recommended that the government set a compensation limit of $250 for books, printed publications, works of art, gold and silver and other luxury goods, which were damaged in the war.

Mr. Ilsey said that the bill provided that no payment would be made if the damage were less than $250, and which was injustice to a person with a home worth only $50 and which suffered damage of $45.

GOODYEAR TIRE LIFE EXTENSION PLAN

George Crukshank (Club, Fraser Valley) said he was objecting to the bill as it would limit him to $8 for my jewelry and he would be overpaying me by $7—but to the principle of free compensation he was in full agreement.

Mr. Ilsey said he did not mind the bill as it was a good idea.

Mr. Crukshank: "Then will the bill provide that if a man has a car and a house he will not be protected?"

Mr. Ilsey: "No, I am sorry I cannot. You have an unusual compensation plan, but all live in houses, everyone has to have a residence. When you have a home it is part of your property and it is not a good idea not to be protected."

Modern Spies Very Ordinary Looking Gents

By BILL BOYD

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—Mats Hay and the man with the six disguises are figures out of the past or out of a Hollywood script-writer's notebook. When it comes to modern espionage or sabotage, they are as most decidedly past.

Study the pictures of the eight submarine-launched Nazi saboteurs now facing a military tribunal in Washington. They are as ordinary-looking as any men you see in the movies. For example, they probably are 10—possibly even 100—days away from being heroes. Their names and file of enemy agents are almost without exception suited to their work, but they are as difficult to single out in a crowd.

CALIBRE FALLS

As espionage has gone into what might be termed "mass production," the calibre of its operatives has fallen.

Once they were highly trained, capable of carrying out their intrusions with complete freedom from the watchful eye of the British single-handed. Now they form a chain, in which each link is sustained by one person, and the web of information they gather are put together, much like a jigsaw puzzle, by the highest skilled workers.

With the end of secret operations, the rate of pay appears to have dropped. Salaries running as high as $100 a week were rare among those who worked for the F.B.I.'s hands in the last 18 months, while a 13-year-old girl who was a member of a Nazi sabotage team, testified her salary was $25 a week, but that usually she was paid less.

MISERABLE OCCUPATIONS

The men have been, and are again in the case of the eight on trial in Washington, types who fit easily into ordinary occupations and surroundings. In the month preceding the United States entry into the war, many of them had been employed as stewards on certain liners, useful as information carriers; some had been pilots in aircraft and other war industry plants, or were soldiers at army posts.

The women had held jobs in beauty parlors, beauty parlors being virtual information centers, because they were a bore on themselves for a while, while others ostensibly were simple housewives.

Call-Up Notices
For Men In 35-40
Class To Go Out

OTTAWA, July 10.—(CP)—Call-up notices will start going out shortly to 5,500 men in the 35 to 40 age group and 5,750 in the 20-year-old class. The call-up notice, which includes Ottawa and all of eastern Canada, it was learned yesterday.

An official of the war service department said men must be in the full-time service, otherwise since that date, all are considered single men and subject to compulsory conscription if they fall within the callable age groups—35 to 40 years inclusive.

Manpower Shortage
Bars Triple Shift

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—Joseph Clark, president of the executive committee of the Congress of Industrial Organizations and president of the National Maritime Union, and yesterday on the New York Stock Exchange, the chairman and Victory Loan manager of the War Emergency Loan and ways and means of increasing sales of War Savings Bonds.

The only spot of color is captured on the field of the flying seafarers. And there is one spot of color the spectators see again and again: a field of red, white and blue.

And the world's last line is flown over 2,610 tons of merchant ships. It's the flag of Netherlands, and a reminder that Holland is still in that war.

With the possible exception of Norway, whose shipping losses have been heavy, the rest of the countries whose governments have taken refuge in London is able to put to sea.

Immediately following the rural delegates will hold a conference presided over by C. C. Chapman, chairman of the general section of the Alberta national war finance committee.

Reports of the chairman of committees in Northern Alberta will be received during the meeting.

Both the chairman and Victory Loan workers met at a luncheon at the Hotel Macdonald.

Local Hollanders readily turned their backs over to the government.

They in turn, started the Atlantic half of the Netherlands merchant fleet.

Then the East Indies fell, leaving more than 1,000,000 tons of N.E.I. merchant fleet to be put to Allied use.

Most of the ships left in existence to which this tonnage could be channeled for mutual Anglo-American use.

Ships and men are bound into government service for the duration, and six months thereafter, unless otherwise directed by the government, there is no profit.

All those supplies to be carried have to be paid for.

Freighter Slices Through Tug

An Allied freighter sliced through a C.N.R. harbor tug port Halifax, sending six men to their deaths in the greatest port tragedy since the sinking of the pilot ship Hebridean with the loss of nine lives two years ago. Four men escaped. The tug sank in less than two minutes. Above is the wreckage of the tug's pilot house.

NEW YORK, July 10.—(AP)—New Yorkers relaxing on tennis courts often pause to heed the river traffic. What the resting players see is a great grey merchant steamer in or out, then another and another and another.

Soldier Pleads For Jolly News From Home

Wives, Mothers and Sweethearts Should Not Add to Servicemen's Trials; It's a Duty to Write Letters

A soldier writes me asking if I will not beg the people at home to write happy news to the front. His letters, he says, can give him pleasure, and he wishes to know what those mournful epistles that we get from our mothers and wives mean. "They don't do us any good," he says, "they just make us feel bad." That's the last bit of pep out of him.

"But any fun being far away from home," Dorothy Dix says, "is lost, and having at the back of your mind always a little cold fear about what may be happening to your loved ones, or perhaps you will never see them again. Then when the letter comes, it is like a welcome for so long a time, and prayed for so long, sudden with tears and filled with all sorts of questions, it is grammar into it. It is simply the last knockout blow."

"Of course, we want our dear ones to be happy, and doesn't it make us feel bad that they lie awake nights and cry all day because we have gone into a decline. Nor does we ever mention about how they dream, as though they were still at home, still in a battlefield, and they feel that it must be as men. Nor does one ever mention about how Father's hair has turned white with the worries of trying to do his best for us, and the fact that the Army is breaking, or that the baby is sick, or that our best are struggling out with us."

"Now, the last gas of the nine-tenths of the letters that we get from home, and sometimes carry to the front, are the ones before we get up enough courage to read them. And when we do, we wonder why we are so surprised to realize that what those of us who are doing a hard and dangerous job, are not being appreciated, or being depressed. What we want is a cheer-leader instead of a crepe-hanger."

McKinney Letters

"Please won't you please write us anything, but jolly, funny letters that will bring us a smile. It will make us feel that this is a pretty good world that is worth fighting for. We are not sure that there is no use in defending our home and the battlefield at home and on the battlefield."

I gladly add my plea for cheer, for I have made it a rule to write to soldiers. I have made it many times before and shall make it many times again, that we are the ones that the hand of some mother or wife, or friend, will link us with her love, keeping her near to us down through the years. For nine-tenths of these letters that so impress the reader are the ones that overflow of a heart bowed down by war. They are the result of overwork, of suspense, of homesickness, of vision.

The writers do not realize how quickly we can do and forget how quickly we can be moved, and that the written word always, is than the spoken word.

Nazi U-Boat Sinks Own Ship Carrying Allied Prisoners

MELBOURNE, July 10—(UPI)—Australian inquiries through the International Red Cross disclosed yesterday that Germany had sunk its own U-boat carrying Allied prisoners to a German submarine in the North Atlantic last January. Many prisoners were drowned.

It was not explained how the mistake was made said the Australian Department of Information, which took the account.

The department added Australia and Netherlands prisoners were also picked up by the prison ship last October after their ship, the Marsella, was sunk in the Bay of Biscay by a German submarine.

Then the first round of rescues was made and the U-boat sank by itself.

Most of the prisoners were saved.

TIRE PYRAMIDS GROW AT DEPOTS

Canadians Pour Salvage Rubber Into War Factories

Boon for blackout-bothered pedestrians is this plastic, illuminated cane. Loretta Hynes, Chicago model, swings the unbreakable walking stick, also useful as a club.

There's rubber, rubber everywhere but not a tire in the heap that will be used for anything except the most vital in Canada's war effort. Thousands upon thousands of old tires make up this imposing pile of 500 tons of salvage rubber in a Toronto collecting depot. Going into the production of a score of weapons, much of this rubber will bounce right back to Malaya where it grew — this time to slap Japs.

Five-foot-three Marjorie Reynolds swings her toes a foot and four inches above her head in a horizontal kick that demonstrates her qualifications to be Fred Astaire's dance partner in a new film.

Yank Mans Canadian Gun

Submarine Watch In Atlantic

The destroyer in the background and the destroyer from whose desk this photograph was taken are swinging along on parallel courses, keeping the submarine watch in the North Atlantic. The destroyer which is in the background is one of those received from the United States in the now-historic ships-for-bases deal. Early morning mist rises from the choppy seas.

An Eye-Witness Story

Recovering from wounds and burns, Ensign G. H. Gay, who had a "ring-side seat" of the air-sea battle off Midway Island, provides Nurse Ann Davidson at Honolulu hospital with first-hand details. Gay, reading press accounts of the battle, had a ringside seat when his torpedo plane was shot down. He saw three Jap aircraft carriers in flames.

Remember These Former "Greats"?

The lady in the picture is Mistinguette who must be in her sixties. She is the French singing and dancing star who was in her prime right after the last war. She is being escorted to a night club in the Montmartre district of Paris by Max Schmeling on her right, and Georges Carpenter on her left. Carpenter has gone collaborationist, and Schmeling, the once hear-no-night champion of the world, which he won on a foul, is of course rounding up such Nazi propaganda material and making use of it. Carpenter once fought Dempsey, and was more popular than Jack at the time. Now the roles are reversed and Carpenter as this picture shows has been "lavalized," while Dempsey has gone into the American Army service.

She was a girl who looks like a famous film actress, and she had a secret rendezvous date.... Then, after post-mortem examination, the coroner deduces that Sister was a hockey and baseball player—probably a college athlete.

CHAPTER III

The sleeping car was uncomfortably jerked as the train moved through the sub-prime night. It was plowing into a raging blizzard in the heart of the north country. From the 54th mile trail from John's River, Quebec-Baques, sailing point for the Caribou crossing, Canso.

Inside the car, Dawson found himself cursing the ill luck that made him miss the weekly boat sailing from Canso for the secret airport "Somewhere" in Newfoundland. It was taking him days to make the trip he could fly.

But it had to be the train—the Intelligence Department at least had to get him out of his "bedfellow" slow and the hunt now pointed to Chicago. It was nine o'clock and the American sergeant had drawn his revolver from the body of the hanged Lemoy Sister. But Dawson had to identify himself off the train in record time and air mailed them special delivery to the various units.

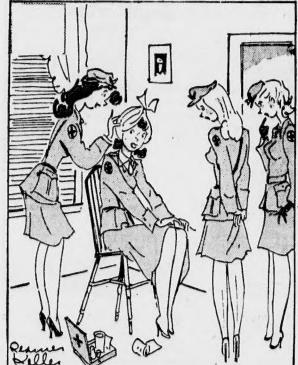

This afternoon a cable had ar-
